Abstract is objected since it must be on a separate single page.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 8-14, 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Willems et al (US 6,194,497).

Willems et al teach the instant transparent anti-static thermoplastic such as polycarbonate containing a perfluoroalkylsulfonate salt in abstract and example 2.

Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.

Claims 8-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Willems et al (US 6,194,497) in view of DE 42 22 448 or Hakanson et al (US 4,570,197).

The instant invention further recites quaternary ammonium over Willems et al. However, the use of perfluoroalkylsulfonate quaternary ammonium salts as antistatic agents is well known as taught by DE (page 5, line 40) and Hakanson et al (col. 3, line 56).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to utilize a quaternary ammonium salt in Willems et al with teaching of DE or Hakanson et al since Hakanson et al teach quaternary salts of perfluoroalkylsulfonates and since quaternary ammonium salts are also well known antistatic agents.

Claims 8, 9, 12, 13, 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Hisamoto et al (US 4,976,741).

Hisamoto et al teach thermoplastic compositions containing a potassium salt of perfluoroalkylsulfonate and molded articles thereof at col. 2, line 8 and col. 4, line 63 to col. 5, line 12. Thermoplastics such as polystyrene, polyethylene and polyester are transparent resins.

Thus, the instant invention lacks novelty.
